DUTIES:

Work involves responsibility for strategic planning, development, implementation and management of educational technology and information systems in a school district, including ongoing configuration, maintenance, operation, disaster recovery planning, protection, security, diagnosis, troubleshooting and resolution of system problems. The incumbent is responsible for daily operations of all school administration and student information systems, computer-based instruction and any related systems and/or software applications, as well as management of configuration, maintenance and repair of all computer related equipment, accurate data integration across all district systems, coordination of training and support services for system users, departmental budgeting, ordering, and management of vendor-provided services. Work is performed under general supervision of a higher level school administrator, requiring the exercise of independent judgment in carrying out details of the work. Direct supervision is exercised over subordinate technical support staff. Performs related work as required.

SUBJECT OF EXAMINATION:

1. Administrative techniques and practices

These questions test for a knowledge of management techniques and practices used in directing or assisting in directing a program component or an organizational segment. Questions cover such areas as interpreting policies, making decisions based on the context of the position in the organization, coordinating programs or projects, communicating with employees or the public, planning employee training, and researching and evaluating areas of concern.

2. Principles and practices of LAN administration

These questions test for knowledge of procedures and terminology applicable to administering a local area network (LAN). They cover such subjects as installing, configuring and upgrading a network; establishing user accounts and assigning access rights; monitoring network performance and troubleshooting; dividing networks and linking to other networks; creating and documenting procedures for users; and establishing and maintaining network security. The questions are not specific to any particular LAN.

3. Principles of networked communications

These questions test for basic concepts and terminology of data communications. They cover such subjects as data communications, types of networks, modems, security, protocols, topologies, transmission media, wiring, installation and troubleshooting. The questions are general in scope and are not specific to any vendor or system.

4. Principles of providing user support

These questions test for knowledge and skill in working in a user support situation. They cover such subjects as how to communicate effectively with users requesting help; how to deal with different types of situations; troubleshooting techniques; and how to gather, organize and make available technical information needed to provide support.

5. Supervision

These questions test for knowledge of the principles and practices employed in planning, organizing, and controlling the activities of a work unit toward predetermined objectives. The concepts covered, usually in a situational question format, include such topics as assigning and reviewing work; evaluating performance; maintaining work standards; motivating and developing subordinates; implementing procedural change; increasing efficiency; and dealing with problems of absenteeism, morale, and discipline.
